1. Purpose of This Document

This document describes the Nico Online Mart mobile application and the business activities it supports. It may be submitted as a supporting description for business registration or licensing review. It is not a replacement for official government forms, tax registrations, licenses, or professional legal advice.

2. Nature of the Application

Nico Online Mart is a mobile commerce and delivery application for customers to browse products, place orders, and request delivery of bottled water, Sri Lankan grocery items, food items, and related retail products. The app connects customers with listed products or shops, records order information, and supports customer communication for order assistance.

3. Main App Functions

- Customer registration, login, account access, and password recovery.
- Product, grocery, bottled water, food, shop, and restaurant browsing with images, pricing, categories, and availability information.
- Cart management, quantity updates, discount display, delivery fee calculation, and order summary.
- Checkout with customer name, phone number, delivery address, optional delivery instructions, and order confirmation.
- Order history, payment information, delivery status, and order tracking screens.
- Cash on delivery and online payment support through configured payment providers where activated.
- Customer support contact through WhatsApp and related app communication channels.
- Location and address support for delivery coordination.

4. Business Activities Supported

- Online sale and delivery coordination for groceries, bottled water, food items, and other approved retail products.
- Collection of order details needed to process purchases and deliver goods to customers.
- Acceptance of customer payments through approved payment methods, including cash on delivery and enabled online payment gateways.
- Operation of a customer support channel for product, payment, delivery, and technical assistance.

- Maintenance of digital records for orders, payments, delivery status, and customer service follow-up.

5. Technology and Data Handling

The application is built with Flutter and uses Firebase services for authentication, database storage, cloud functions, and media storage. Customer data handled by the app is limited to information required for account access, order processing, delivery coordination, payment confirmation, and support communication.

- Typical data includes customer name, email, phone number, delivery address, order details, payment status, and delivery notes.
- Card processing, where enabled, is handled through third-party payment service providers; the app should not store full payment card details.
- Access to business data should be limited to authorized personnel for order fulfilment, accounting, support, and compliance purposes.

6. Operational and Legal Responsibilities

- Register the business under the correct legal owner or company name before commercial operation.
- Maintain accurate product descriptions, prices, delivery fees, stock status, and customer-facing terms.
- Comply with applicable consumer protection, e-commerce, food safety, delivery, tax, and data protection requirements.
- Issue receipts or order confirmations and maintain records required for accounting and legal compliance.
- Publish clear policies for delivery, cancellation, refunds, privacy, and customer support before public launch.
- Use only lawful product images, trademarks, business names, and supplier content.

7. Declaration

The applicant declares that Nico Online Mart is intended to operate as a lawful online retail and delivery-support business. The applicant accepts responsibility for completing all official registration forms, obtaining any required permits, maintaining accurate business records, and complying with the laws applicable to the location of operation.
